JANE GIBSON TRULY BELIEVES STORY OF HALL-MILLS MURDER

By DOROTHY DIX.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 19.-Like a queen in a parade—or a funeral procession — Jane Gibson court. For the ambulance in which she was brought from Jersey City was joined at every crossroad by the cars of the curi-Somerville the bizarre cavalcade locked the streets of the little seething mob of men, women and Irritations, children struggled for entrance. To keep y had been set for the great scene Just under the bench where wise Judges sit, a hospital bed had been made up with snowy white sheets and piles of pillows.

Mrs. Salome Carenner. And not 10 feet back of the bed, ady black eyes upon it, was an on the strangest errand that ever rought a mother there. She had come to take away her daughter's character, and blacken it, to prove er not only a liar, but a liar who was willing to swear away the lives three people. This was Mrs. libson's mother, Mrs. Salome Can unaccustomed finery for the ocasion, and she wore a brand-new elvet hat and a brand-new black oat and dress, but nevertheless and the grim slit of her sunken nouth, and her sagging leathery ace, looked like some bird of evil

She has borne 17 children, this ueer unnatural mother. Some dead, some lost. Some forgotten. but this daughter that she cradled her arms she hates because of money transaction in which she believes she was cheated.

So to avenge this wrong, she has me to drag forth the shameful of her child's life, and disly them before the world, and as looked down at the white bed withered lips as if she was savor ng the venom upon them, and ound it sweet.

Setting the Stage. There is a long wait and then licemen clear the aisles and urmur goes through the room hat Jane Gibson has come.

First upon the scene is a pretty oung nurse in a starchy white ead and a blue cape lined with ed flung jauntily over her should-Then a wise-looking young doc retcher on which lies a shrouded

They put the stretcher down carefully and deffy lift its occu-pant onto the bed. Then follows e ritual of the sick room. The isiness of taking temperature, of ing the pulse, of listening to the apse of Jane Gibson. She lies still and straight, the covers lded primly under her chin. On r face is the pallor of sickness. Her rough-hewn features have been ed by suffering until they have a certain fineness and dignidid not possess in health. Her eyes are sunken, her hair black against the pillow. Her hands knotted by hard work are bleached and bloodless looking. She looks he wraith of the husky woman or herself. She is very nervous she wrinkles up her forehead and oves her head continually from side to side, but her voice is un-expectedly strong and vibrant.

Told Story Thrillingly. In taking the oath she folded hands as a child does in prayer nd then, led on by the questions Senator Simpson, told the strangest, the weirdest, the most dramatic story I have ever heard told in court. In substance, it was very much what she has told over nd over again in the newspapers. but she gave an odd, polgnant quality to it. as she told it, someimes in whispers, semetimes in a ice rising high and shrill, lying there on the bed from which she may never rise again. She told of riding through the ght on her old mule, Jenny, folowing the creaking wagon of the whom she suspected of stealng her corn, and of seeing a white man and a man she thought was a Negro, in De Russey's lane. She told of going back, after she had lost the creaking wagon, and tying her mule to a cedar tree so that she might hunt the corn thieves on foot. Then of hearing quarreling voices, and cursing and swearing, and seeing a man with a flashlight. Then of seeing men fighting together, and hearing a woman say, "Oh. Henry!" And then a woman screaming and screaming and screaming, and then three more shorts, at which she Often Rehearsed Account. She told of coming back, hours to the same spot and seeing a white-haired woman with the moon shining on her face who was kneeling down on the ground, and oaning so that she made a sound like a screech-owl.

And she identified the woman the had seen in De Russey's lane and the woman she saw kneeling on the ground as Mrs. Hall, and on the ground as six that, was a the man that she thought was a Negro as Willie Stevens, and the man with the flashlight as Henry Carpender, and the other man as enry Stevens. Evidently Mrs. Gibson has rearsed the story in her mind a for she emphasized her points by

BROADWAY LIMITED - leader of the Pennsylvania's great fleet of 3800 daily passenger trains

45 years ago today

America's First Limited Train opened a new era of travel · ·

"Tus-long train of steel cars, rolling in twenty hours from one to the other of the two greatest cities in America, is a credit to this country and its railroad men. . . "

ARTHUR BRISBANE recently penned these words as he sat aboard the Broadway Limited speeding in its rapid flight from Chicago to New York.

Around him as he wrote-tapestried furniture, deep rugs, shaded lights, flowers against a background of soft, cool green everything was as restful and delightful as in his own club in New York, marking the high standards of travel luxury in 1926.

Forty-five years ago today the Pennsylvania Limited made its pioneer run from New York to Chicago to test the soundness of the idea of a Limited Train -limited in the number of its stops and in the size of the train so that it might move with the greatest speed and security-limited in the number of passengers so that at a small extra fare it might give to all the maximum of comfort in luxurious appointments.

And the reply of the public to that test is written large in the daily operations of the Pennsylvania Railroad:

The Broadway Limited, leading the Pennyivania's eleven daily trains each way between New York and Chicago

The American, flagship of six daily trains in either direction between St. Louis and New York.

The Congressional Limited, the Liberty Limited, the Manhattan Limited, the presentday Pennsylvania Limited, The Red Arrow, and over a score of other limited trains which embody the very perfection of luxury and comfort in travel.

3800 passenger trains each day set forth over the Pennsylvania, leading still in a tradition of fast de luxe service that was started forty-five years ago today.

WANTS COMMITTEE TO OPEN BOXES

Declares He Is Ready to Introduce Resolution Authorizing Reed to Continue Pennsylvania Inquiry.

By CHARLES G. ROSS. Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. -Though no direct word has been received recently from Senator Reed of Missouri, who is on a hunting trip, it is assumed by his office force here, as well as by Senator Norris of Nebraska, that upon his return to Washington he will certainly reopen his campaign fund investigation to hear charges of wholesale corruption in the Pennsylvania senatorial election.
"I believe," said Norris yesterday, "that the resolution under which the Reed committee has been acting gives it ample authority to inquire into the Pennsylvania election frauds. If it does not, I am prepared to offer a resolution giving the committee the necessary power. I shall do this, of course, only in case Senator Reed should desire the resolution to be introluced by someone other than himself. Few if any Senators would dare to vote against an extension of the committee's authority."

Senator Reed is expected to rebut whether he will reopen the inill after the opening of Congress on Dec. 6, is not known. Norris is eager to have the inquiry started as soon as possible.

Meantime the Nebraska insurgent, who believes that the sanctiy of the ballot is a higher ideal than party loyalty, and who lived up to that preachment by cam-paigning in Pennsylvania against he Republican senatorial nominee. William S. Vare, and for William B. Wilson, Democrat, has assembled an impressive mass of evidence pointing to gross fraud on Vare's behalf in Philadelphia.

As has been told, Wilson carried he State outside of Philadelphia; by a majority of 50,000, but was defeated by the majority of 237,000 rolled up for his Republican oppo-

Dog-Faced" Robber and His Companion in Kingsin East St. Louis

ONE AN ASSOCIATE OF SHELTON GANG

Leonard Ray Yeager Named by M. M. Birmingham as Man Who Wounded George Schou, 62.

Two men arrested last night in East St. Louis have confessed they held up a saloon at 1157 South Kingshighway Wednesday night and shot and seriously wounded George Schou, 62 years old, a tailor, of 117 Bates avenue, when he tried to escape.

. The prisoners are Leonard Ray Yeager, 29, of 902 St. Clair avenue, East St. Louis, and Maurice Martin Birmingham, 29, of 4524 Scott avenue, St. Louis. Birmingham signed a confession that he and Yeager were the robbers and Yeager did the shooting. Yeager refused to talk at first, but later poice announced he, too, had confessed.

The holdup, as told yesterday, was in the saloon of Frank Doherty on the ground floor of the Swedish-American Hall. Schou, after attending a Knights of Pythias lodge meeting on the second floor and having lunch in the basement cafe, was leaving by way of the saloon when he walked into the holdup.

Details of Shooting.

Two armed robbers had taken $221 from the cash register, the bartender, Conrad Leduc, and two customers, and when Schou walked out through a side door, one of the robbers—dubbed "Dog-face" by police because of his ugly features-followed and shot Schou in the nose, the bullet penetrating to

In his confession, Birmingham relates that he and Yeager met Wednesday night at an East St. Louis house and left together in a edan which Birmingham had stolen in Chicago. Each had a revolver. After visiting a Delmar bouleard poelroom, they drove to Doherty's saloon.

"I asked the bartender for some whisky, and then I asked him for Frank Doherty," the confession

"He told me Doherty was not in. We stood around for about 15 minutes, and then Yeager said to me, 'Let's take them,' and I said, 'All right.'

Tells of Holding Place Up. "The bartender had gone to the washroom, and was coming back. I put the gun on him and made him kneel on the floor. Then Yeager told me to keep my gun on the people and he robbed the cash regster and he also searched the custhrough the back door of the saloon and I covered him with my gun, and while I was watching the rest of the men, this man started to run through the asloon. Yeager following. I heard a shot.

"Then Yeager came back. . . We drove away. He said to me, 'I think I killed that old ----'" The two drove back to East St.

outs and divided the loot. Birmingham was arrested in a saloon there at 7:30 o'clock by Detective-Sergeant "Tobey" O'Brien and Detective Samual Strautz of the East St. Louis force who had been given descriptions of the robbers. At 2 a. m. these two and five St. Louis detectives led by Detective-Sergeant John Carroll surrounded the house at 902 St. Clair venue and captured Yeager in bed.

Stolen Sedan Seized, Yeager's revolver and the stolen sedan are in possession of police. Birmingham's revolver was stolen esterday, he says.

John Prentice, 411 North Fifth venue, at whose house Yeager and Birmingham met, was arrested today for questioning. His shotgun was found in the stolen car.

Birmingham is a brother of Peter Birmingham, who was shot and killed by a policeman six years ago. The policeman was acquitted of a murder charge. Yeager is a native of Fairfield, Ill., and is said to have been a hanger-on of the Shelton gang.

Brought to St. Louis today, Yeager and Birmingham talked freely of the holdup and shooting. Yeager admitted shooting Schou, and said he was intoxicated at the time. He accused Birmingham of posing as Bernie Shelton, a member of the Shelton gang, and said Birminghm had told him he was "gunning for the Birger gang." $1500 Fire Damage To Building. ooths. Democratic judges wink at the practice-too often they are a part of the machine. The thing has been done so long and so openly that people have become calloused to it.

Marking 150 Ballots.

"I have been told of cases where one man made out the ballots of 150 to 200 voters. I hope that the Reed committee will subpena the ballot boxes of some of the 'zero' districts. An examination, I am sure, will show numerous instances in which the cross mark at the top of the ballot used for voting a straight ticket, was obviously made by one man for a hundred or more voters. It is illegal for a ballot to be marked by anyone save the voter, except on affidavit that the voter is unable to act for himself.

"I estimate that 200,000 ballots were cast for Vare in Philadelphia and Pittsburg in violation of this and other election laws. If they could be thrown out, as they should be. Wilson would have a majority.

"There are two ends to be served by an investigation of the Pennsylvania frauds. One is the possible seating of Wilson in place of Vare, But whether Wilson is seated or not, there will be a great moral gain in having the country turn its thoughts toward means for keeping the ballot pure."

"Best Citizens" Afraid. Norris was impressed on his tour of the State by the number of "best citizens" who believed that Vare ought to be defeated, but were afraid to say so in public.

He told of one town where the ommittee in charge of his meeting was unable to get a line about it in the morning paper. Even the offer of a paid advertisement was declined. Just before the meeting began, while Norris sat on the platform waiting for the curtain to go up, the editor of this paper came to him and expressed entire sympathy with his mission. The editor was in the midst of an explanation when the curtain con-cealing the pair from the audience began to ascend.

"Then." said Norris, "he scooted away so fast that you could have played cards on his coat tail." .

Lee Maze, 32 years old, 800 South Second street, St. Charles, sisters, my sister-in-law and myself all have IVI families, and for years we have all given our children Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. We have recommended it hundreds of times and think it just wonderful, not only to bring up children but for ourselves. At the slightest sign of stomach trouble, colds, constipation and when out of sorts, a dose or two is all they need. Truly, it is a family medicine and the stitch in time that saves nine." (Name and address sent on request.) St. Charles.

Constipation, Colds, Coughs, Fevers and Other Perils of Childhood One dose and mother's anxiety is lifted. The sickest stomach craves the taste of Syrup Pepsin. From infancy to old age the result is certain. Droopy, listless, feverish children respond as if to magic. Headache, stomachache, biliousness, coated tongue, constipation—these are the daily perils for which a host of mothers say Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the safeguard. Sold and recommended by all druggists.

Women, we have been assured, have less sense than men. In our unthinking way, we accepted this doctrine for a long time. Twas only lately that we subjected it to a scientific test, with results that were surprising. In our last mental house cleaning, we resolved either to confirm or to reject this error. We made a memorandum in the notebook we devote exclusively to psychological problems: "Find a standard test, and compare the relative sense of (a) woman, (b) man." We searched long for a standard test, one with a low possibility of error, one not subject to unrevealed prejudice on the part of the scientist, Novel reading would not do. Women read the last chapter first to see if they will like the That is more sensible than reading the chapters in sequence, and then being disappointed. Women close their eyes when they kiss a man, but if we were a woman, we would do the same thing. Consider the male face! Finally, and entirely by accident, we remembered that both men and women ride street cars and busses. We did not make a random selection of conductors, and ask them the proportion of men and women who expect to get a fivedollar bill changed to pay fare. We sat on the back platform of street cars and watched; we boarded busses and observed.

As a result, he was nearly run over by two busses, three automobiles, seven trucks and 40 Fords. We have changed

NEW FARM BUREAU TO FIX PRICE ASKED FOR BY MEREDITH

Former Secretary of Agriculture Proposes Board to Regulate Supply and Demand.

Farmers Would Be Told Year in Advance Minimum They Would Get and Regulate Planting.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The fixing of guaranteed minimum price on six staple crops by a Federal commission in advance of the planting season was offered lassight as one means of giving relie to American farmers by Edward T. Meredith of Iowa, former Secretary of Agriculture, at the annual dinner of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York in the Waldorf-Astoria.

As outlined by Meredith, the commission, to consist of the Secretaries of Labor, Agriculture and Commerce, with four others to be named by the President, would fix the minimum price to be set for wheat, corn, cotton, wool, butter and sugar and either store or sell abroad at a loss any surplus, losses to be made up either from the Treasury or from production tax of 1 per cent.

Meredith, who served in President Wilson's Cabinet, preceded the outlining of his plan with the declaration that the expected price or srofit to be made from crops controlled the volume the farmers might seek to raise, the farmer inevitably planting that which he expects will be most profitable.

"My proposal," he said, "is that a commission be created and charged with the duty of naming minimum prices to be paid the farmer no six major crops produced during the ensuing year. The commission is not to buy any crop or any portion of a crop until one year after harvest and then only the surplus not absorbed either in our domestic or export trade at the price bid.

"In the meantime the farmers enjoy these prices in our domestic market as they would not sell for less, knowing that later the commission would take the crop. Our copie must live in the meantime and the crop would be dosorbed at

Reason for Including Sugar.

Mr. Meredith explained he would include sugar in the list because it can be produced in large quantities in the United States and absorb farm labor if it be found too many workers are engaged in the production of other crops.

"By raising and lovestoned the

"By raising and lowering the rices of these crops from year to sur, as the alw of supply and desand indicates, and relying upon he law of incentive," Meredith continued, "a balance can be kept and continuous surpluses avoided, firer two or three years the prices could be fixed in view of experience, and based on actual results, ther than any man's judgment or timates. Post-Dispatch Bureau 20-23 Wyatt Bldg. WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 .- Major-General Amos A. Fries, chief of the Chemical Warfare Service and district commander of the American Legon, in his effort to have Henry Flury ousted from the Eastern High School faculty because of his prize-winning defini-tion of socialism in a monthly magazine, has aroused a storm of protest in national educational circles and has split local American Legion posts into conflicting

The controversy was taken up y Washington newspapers after the facts were printed in the Post-Dispatch Tuesday. As was related, Fries, after seeing Flury's defini-tion, which said in effect that workers were slaves and civilization was cruel, demanded that the Board of Education discharge him. Suggestions for Arranging Meals That Are Balanced and Palatable.

We have a slightly different fruit this week in the kumquaats. Kumquaats are decidely delicious semitropical fruits which grow in certain sections of our own South. While they are not always to be found in northern markets they are used this week so as to "point our moral and adorn our tale."
While it is directly reasonable for the average family to follow more or less certain lines when it comes to fruit and other delicacies, it is also true that every one will do

But this is the a well to have an occasional com-plete variation. Hence, kumquaats.

Notice that Cape Cod oysters are dish to be had and it deserves served. These are far more satisfactory for general use than blue points or other small varieties. Our parents and grandparents 'Cape Cod' are often large enough to give a sense of absolute satisfaction of appetite. That they are to be followed by a somewhat light dinner or luncheon is quite true. Not that we are to depend on oysters for a large proportion of bodybuilding food, but we may look to them confidently for iodin and other mineral salts' without which the body cannot properly maintain its healthful activity. For many years well-known scientists have been teaching that the banana is a much maligned food. It is often turing this as being a judicious and

BRAN DISHES

Several Popular Ways of Using pan with a little butter. This Healthful Article of Food.

The consistent and insistent call r recipes for cookery in which bran is the basic article suggests the publication of the following tested recipes for dishes made out of this popular article of food:

Bran Muffins.
Take two tablespoons of shortenng, ¼ cup of sugar, one egg. one cup sour milk, one cup bran, one cup flour, one-half teaspoon soda, one-fourth teaspoon salt and one teaspoon baking power.

Cream shortening and sugar together, add the egg. Mix and sift flour soda, salt and baking powder, To the creamed mixture add the bran, then the milk, alternately snap if a teaspoon of mustard is with the sifted dry ingredients, added to it. Pour into greased muffin tins and bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes. If sweet milk is used instead of sour milk, omit the onehalf teaspoon of soda and use three teaspoons baking powder. Raisins or dates may be added to the mutins if desired.

Bran Griddle Cakes. Take one cup bran, one cup flour, one tablespoon sugar, two teaspoons salt, one egg, one and one-half cups milk and one tablespoon melted

Hermits.
For these delicious little sweet cakes take one-third cup butter, one egg, two-thirds cup sugar, two tablespoons milk, one and threefourths cups flour (more if neces-sary), one-half cup bran, one teaspoon baking powder, one-third cup raisins, three-fourths teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon cloves, one-fourth teaspoon mace, onefourth teaspoon nutmeg and onehalf teaspoon salt.

Cream the butter, add the sugar and egg, and beat well. Add the milk and bran, raisins, and flour which has been sifted with the spices. Chill, roll thin, cut, and oan sprinkled over the top. When the cakes are cool, they may be frosted with confectioner's sugar frosting, and chopped nuts or bran over the top.

Bran Brittle.

Take two cups granulated sugar, one cup brown sugar, one-half cup light corn syrup, one cup water, one-fourth cup butter, one-eighth teaspoon salt and one and one-half cups bran.

Put the sugars, corn syrup and water into a saucepan and cook, stirring until the sugar is dissolved. continue cooking, without stirring, until the temperature 300 degrees F. is reached (very brittle). Remove from fire, add salt and butter, and stir only enough to mix well. Add bran and turn at once on a greased slab or on a greased inverted pan or baking sheet. Smooth out with a spatula. After about a half-minute take hold of the edges of the candy and, lifting its slightly from the slab, pull it as thin as possible. Break into irregular pieces.

It has been established that canned tomatoes contain more vitamines in proportion to their bulk than do the fresh variety. Canned cabbage has also been studied very carefully and it has been administered beyond doubt that this vegetable also has lost none of its vitamins. The juice from canned tomatoes, then, or canned cabbage may be counted upon not only as a judicious addition to soups and sauces, but as foods of the very highest type.

Try This Hash and Bless the Pilgrim Mothers for Inventing It.

IRST, I'll tell you about corned beef hash. That's a prime favorite. Of course, the meat is first boiled; usually it is left from one of my boiled dinners, and I cook quart.) nough potatoes for the dinner the meat removing gristle, skin, and most of the fat. Then it goes into the chopper, and in a twinkling of an eye it comes be measured. The potatoes go in ext; then they are measured; and f I have a pint each of meat and potatoes I run a medium-sized nion through the chopper, and mix all the ingredients together well, sprinkle them with salt, pepper and paprika, and turn them into my skillet that has been getting hot with a good, generous tablespoonful of butter sizzling in is heated through. If it seems oo dry, add a few tablespoonfuls of milk. Then pat it all down neatly, and pull the skillet to a oler part of the range and let he hash cook nice and slow as it vill do to perfection in a dependable Griswold Skillet. When the nut-brown shade, fold it over like an omelet and slide it out on a hot platter.

If you like, you can make dents n the top of the hash and drop in poached eggs. That makes a sort of super hash out of it. But if it is just garnished tastily with tiny cucumber pickles, and served with snappy chili sauce or catsur-it will be pretty fine. You may use roast beef or lamb, or any other meat in just the same way, you know; and you may add as you like, a chopped green pepper, or a canned plmento, or little Worchestershire sauce to any of the hashes, for variety.

Now I must tell you how to make that good old New England dish which they call "Red Flan-nel Hash;" my story wouldn't be complete without it. I make this the day after a boiled dinner when have plenty of vegetables left. If I don't, I have a very much disappointed family, I can tell you. Chop enough cold corned beef to make one cupful, potatoes to make wo cupfuls, one cupful of cooked beets, and about half a cupful of cooked carrots and turnips, and perhaps about half a cupful of he cabbage left from dinner. You must always have enough beets to make the hash quite red, you know. The other vegetables, with the exception of the potatoes, may vary as to quantities. Mix all the vegetables and meat, and don't be afraid of the seasoning. Cook just like the corned beef hash; hen eat it and bless the pilgrim

PEANUT CANDIES

Peanuts are becoming popular decoration purposes in cooked dishes. Here are several peanut ecipes that are of the sweetmeat variety but which may be used also n cooking other dishes.

Peanut Brittle. Mix three cups of granulated sugar with one scant cup boiling water and one-quarter teaspoon soda. Let it melt over slow fire. Cook gently without stirring until a little drop in cold water hardens quickly. Add one cup roasted, shelled and skinned peanuts, with as little use of a spoon as possible. Turn the mixture into buttered pans and cut while hot. The britleness of the candy depends much upon the artful use of the spoon.

Chocolate Peanut Clusters. Shell a quart of freshly-roasted eanuts and remove the skins. Drop the peanuts, one by one, into the center of a dish of chocolate made ready for use; lift out onto oil cloth with a dipping work (a wire fork comes for the purpose, but a silver oyster fork answers nicely) to make groups of three nuts—two below, side by side, and one above and between the others.

Brittle Fluff. Take one-half pound peanut brittle, three cups whipped cream and a sponge or plain cake. Grind peanut brittle to a powder fold into whipped cream and pile lightly on rounds of sponge or plain cake.

Glace Peanuts. Take one-half cup white syrup, ne-half cup sugar and two tablespoons of hot water.

What RUDOLPH GANZ thinks of it-

"The efforts of my friend, Don Albert, are bringing to the atten-tion of thousands—who might not otherwise have been reached—that good music is the real music of the people. I feel that the Con-certs which he will conduct will be a far-reaching influence to win thousands of new converts to the cause of good music; and, to the appreciation of the work of our Symphony Orchestra.

"As one artist in the service of music to another artist in the service of music, I congratulate Don Albert and wish him well. These concerts of his, supplementing mine, will do much to further the cause of music." (Signed) RUDOLPH GANZ.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH .

THOSE DEADLY LONG LOVE AFFAIRS. HENEVER I see a woman "perking up," getting a new French bob, searching for stunning hats, and going around with a bob, searching for stunning man, and has either just fallen new light in her eyes, I know that she has either just fallen in love or just recovered from a love affair-and is rejuvenated!

There is nothing like one of those deadly, long-drawn-out, "nowyou've-got me-and-now-you-haven't" love affairs, to take all the color, starch, vivacity, style, pep and personality out of a girl.

Love, like homeopathy, has a primary and secondary effect.

Falling in love, like a facial treatment, completely transforms and transfigures a woman-just at first.

But, unless she repeats the process now and then, it is apt to leave her more wan and saggy and haggard looking than ever.

Why do so many girls, these days, go in for those "understandings," in which the only understanding is that the man understands that the girl will marry him, some day, if he decides to ask her? They are soul-deadening!

Marriage is different. A husband may TRY to dissect a woman's thoughts, dictate her manners, and establish a censorship over her clothes, her friends and her amusements—but only a sweetheart really

A husband is a sure thing. He couldn't possibly absorb a woman, keep her on the ragged edge and spoil her beauty sleep, as a fiance

It's funny-but the moment a man falls in love with a woman, he immediately proceeds to transform her into a solitary island, completely surrounded by his own personality. He selects her because she is "different"--and then starts to tone her down, cut out her little mannerisms and coquetries, and take a tuck at her vanity and

Bitter Disappointment

Disappointments may be bitter But still one shouldn't be a quitter

WIFTLY, silently, eagerly, Reddy Fox was moving through the Green Forest, with his nose to the ground most of the time. Had you been near enough, you might have seen a little drop of water fall from his tongue now when he stopped to look and listen. You see, his mouth was watering with anticipation and eagerness. He was so sure that he was going to have a Grouse dinner that he could almost taste it already.

The scent of Grouse grew stronger. That meant to Reddy that he was getting nearer. He knew that it was the scent of Mr. Grouse, but he felt sure that Mrs. Grouse was with him, and that when he found one, he'd find both. He even dared hope that he would catch both. He felt sure of catching Mrs. Grouse, for had she not been shot by the hunter with a terrible gun? He hoped that Mr. Grouse would be so taken up with looking after Mrs. Grouse that he would not discover his danger until it was
